Compliance with national regulations:

All Medical Products that IPPF/FPAP procures must be authorized by the relevant authority in the country of use, following its standard practices for registration (or other forms of authorization, such as import exemptions and/or authorizations for special use).

Quality standards - Finished Pharmaceutical Products:

All Finished Pharmaceutical Products, including IPPF's core products, must meet 1 or more of the following standards:

1. Prequalified by the WHO/UNFPA Prequalification Programme.
  - a. <https://extranet.who.int/prequal/?list=rh>
  - b. <https://www.unfpaprocurement.org/prequalification-programme>
2. Authorized for use by a Stringent Regulatory Authority (in future to be replaced by WLA ML4), which is a regulatory authority that is:
  - a. A member of ICH prior to 23 October 2015, namely: the US Food and Drug Administration, the European Commission and the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare of Japan also represented by the Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices Agency; or

3. Reviewed and permitted for use by the Expert Review Panel (ERP), for a time limited period not exceeding 12 months, until the product is WHO prequalified, or SRA approved.

Quality standards – Medical Devices:

WHO working in conjunction with the International Medical Devices Regulatory Forum (IMDRF) formally the Global Harmonization Task Force (GHTF), recognizes the standards adopted by several National Authorities. Details can be found in the WHO Guideline – Medical Devices Regulations, a global overview to guiding principles: http://www.who.int/medical\_devices/publications/en/MD\_Regulations.pdf

IPPF approach is that all medical devices should meet the essential requirements as set out in the EEC Directive: Council Directive 93/42/EEC, 90/385/EEC and 98/79/EEC and preferably are certified with the CE Mark. If the product is not CE-marked, then IPPF will purchase products that are recognized by at least one of the regulatory authorities or an equivalent entity:

- MPALS License (Australia)
- Device License (Canada)
- CE Mark (EU)
- Device License (Japan)
- 510 k Device Letter (USA); and

Priority shall be given to candidates that have been accredited by a recognised accreditation entity, thus providing proof of compliance with at least one of the following standards or equivalent:

- Japan QS Standard for medical devices 1128
- ISO 13485 on quality management system of an organization

- ISO 9002/1994 on quality assurance in production, installation and servicing

Quality standards – Diagnostic tests:

A WHO pre-qualification scheme is in place for diagnostics tests. Where possible IPPF will procure tests from the list of prequalified products listed: http://www.who.int/diagnostics\_laboratory/evaluations/PQ\_list/en/

Where tests are required that are not on the WHO pre-qualification list, IPPF will seek products that are CE Marked or have equivalent certification or licensing from authorities by at least one of the regulatory authorities or an equivalent entity:

- MPALS License (Australia)
- Device License (Canada)
- CE Mark (EU)
- Device License (Japan)
- 510 k Device Letter (USA); and

Priority shall be given to candidates that have been accredited by a recognised accreditation entity, thus providing proof of compliance with at least one of the following standards or equivalent:

- Japan QS Standard for medical devices 1128
- ISO 13485 on quality management system of an organization
- ISO 9002/1994 on quality assurance in production, installation and servicing

For Pregnancy tests – IPPF should consult Quality and Performance Guidance for Selection of Pregnancy Tests for Procurement:
